

The American Institute of Wine & Food
San Diego Chapter

2009 Scholarship Application

The American Institute of Wine & Food (AIWF) is a non-profit educational organization established in 1981 by the late Robert Mondavi, the late Julia Child and others to promote a forum for the study and enjoyment of gastronomy. The AIWF is dedicated to promoting health and well-being through the enjoyment of good food and drink and the fellowship that comes when people dine together around the table.

We are the San Diego Chapter of AIWF, a national organization. We award scholarships for the pursuit of culinary arts and enology/viticulture in full or part-time accredited continuing education programs. The amounts range from $1,000 to $5,000 and may be used for study within or outside of San Diego County. Funds for these scholarships are raised by the San Diego Chapter and are awarded to people who are connected to the San Diego area by school, work, or recent involvement in food or wine in the area.

Applications will be accepted until Friday, September 25, 2009. The scholarships will be awarded on or about November 15, 2009 to be used during 2010 at the accredited school, college or university you named in the application. The scholarship award is not transferable without the written permission of the Scholarship Committee, and permission may be denied at the discretion of the Committee. If you are awarded a scholarship, the San Diego Chapter expects feedback from you about your achievements, experiences and your future goals while you are in school, and again, six months after the end of your studies.

The scholarship funds will be sent directly to the school the successful applicant will be attending. All applicants are responsible for supplying their contact information at the time they submit the application, and again, after they start school, including addresses, home and cell phone numbers and email addresses in order for AIWF to respond to your application.

Successful applicants are also required to supply the name, title, and mailing address of the person at the school to whom a check will be sent for applications that are successful.

This application must be completely filled out, along with the statement, resume, and letters of recommendation in order to be considered.
